Rescue Called Off; All Dead In Brazil Air Crash

BELEM, Brazil — (AP)—Aerial rescue teams reported last night a luxurious Pan American airliner apparently was burning even before it crashed Tuesday in dense Brazilian jungle. Their leaders wrote off as dead all 50 persons the plane carried.

Maj. Richard Olney ordered his U. S. Air Force rescue unit from Puerto Rico to end its mission without parachuting to the site or trying to recover the bodies because it would endanger the lives of the rescuers.

A Brazilian air force Catalina—a flying-boat patrol plane—planned, however, to land Brazilian medical rescue corpsmen on a river about 40 miles from the scene today in the hope they could hack through the nearly impenetrable growths.

The airliner's crew of nine and 10 of the 41 passengers were Americans.

The airliner—making one of Pan American World Airways "El Presidente" trips from South America—took off from Rio de Janeiro shortly after dark Monday for a 12-hour night flight to Port of Spain, Trinidad, its only remaining stop before New York.

The plans reported by radio that all was well as it passed west of Barreiras, a mid-Brazilian town, shortly after midnight. The wreckage was discovered less than an hour's flight beyond the position given in its final report.

Observers with powerful glasses circled the wreckage at low altitude and offered the opinion the plane—named the Clipper Good Hope—had exploded at low altitude.

Ferry Officers Ready To Strike

DETROIT—(AP)—Unless the National Railway Mediation Board intervenes, members of the Great Lakes licensed officers organization will walk off 20 car ferries operating on Lake Michigan and the Detroit River.

The independent union broke off wage negotiations with the four railroads involved yesterday and served them with a 10-day strike notice.

If the Railway Mediation Board steps in in the meantime, the union is bound by law to withhold its strike action for a 60-day cooling-off period.

About 200 union members are employed on boats. The officers organization is demanding pay raises of from about $28 to $40 a day for captains and corresponding increases for lower ranking officers.

The railroads involved are the Chesapeake & Ohio, the Ann Arbor Railroad, the Grand Trunk Western and the Wabash.

The C. & O. operates six passenger—automobile—railroad car ferries on Lake Michigan between Michigan and Wisconsin cities and three on the river between Detroit and Windsor, Ont. The Ann Arbor operates five on the lake, the Grand Trunk three on the lake and the Wabash three on the river.

Frustrated Michigan Legislators Go Home; Meeting Date Illegal

By JACK I. GREEN

LANSING—(AP)—Fired with determination to get into the act, the legislature met yesterday to deal with the Southern Michigan prison riot, found it was illegally in session and went home frustrated. It adopted an informal, face-saving resolution advising the state administrative board to advance some more fire insurance money for prison repairs and then dropped the issue until May 14 when it can return legally.

Damage Estimate Cut

Acting on an attorney general's ruling, Lt. Gov. William C. Vandenberg held the Senate was not legally convened because it had provided no way to reassemble when it adjourned April 12 until May 14.

About two-thirds of the two houses met afterwards in an informal, joint convention to hear Governor Williams deliver his carefully-prepared defense of the way the riot was handled.

Williams told the lawmakers that more accurate estimates indicated the prison mutiny damage would run between $1,250,000 to $1,500,000. Earlier estimates had gone as high as $2,500,000.

More Funds Released

It was a strange, farcical ending for a session to which members came armed with hot criticisms of the riot and Williams' administration, as well as plans for paying the riot bill and possibly passing a death penalty law to protect prison guards against murder by mutinous convicts.

After three hours of backstage discussion, the Legislature "adopted" an informal resolution—of no binding effect—which asked the State Administrative Board to release another $100,000 of fire insurance money to repair the destroyed prison laundry and fix up cell blocks. The board already has released $150,000.

The resolution said that $30,000 would be appropriated May 14 for the attorney general's investigation of the riot.

It also asked the board to present plans and estimates of the rehabilitation job May 14 and requested the corrections department and State Police to report how much the riot had cost them.

More Guards Requested

After defending handling of the riot as the only way to prevent a "blood bath," Williams warned the lawmakers against economies which lead to greater expense later.

Television Towers Seen As Menace To Aviation Industry

By VERN HAUGLAND

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The aviation industry is lining up strongly against the prospective mushrooming of television towers across the nation.

The Air Transport Association, an organization of the major airlines, has asked the Federal Communications Commission to place a limit on the height of the towers now that it has lifted the freeze on new television stations.

Ultra-high frequency transmitters would require towers of 2,000 feet and the association does not want them that tall. The Air Line Pilots Association has notified the Civil Aeronautics Board that "erection of steel needles 1,000, 1,500 and 2,000 feet above the surface, within or immediately adjacent to airport control zones and airways, will seriously affect the safe and efficient operation of present and future air transportation."

Clarence N. Sayen, Chicago, president of the Pilots Association, said it would be much better to regulate tower construction now "than to have them moved or razed after it is proven, through air crashes, that they are unsafe."

The Air Transport Association has recommended that:

1. Congress amend the Communications Act to give the FCC specific authority to deny applications when antenna sites or heights are found to be air hazards.
2. All TV towers be restricted to city sections already considered air hazard areas.
3. Aircraft radio warning devices be installed at each antenna site.
4. The use of "booster" stations so that high towers would be unnecessary.

Health Fee Bill Wins In Britain

LONDON—(AP)—The bill nobody really wanted—to charge for some of Britain's hitherto free health services—won final passage from the conservative majority in the House of Commons last night.

The labor party, which installed the health program on a feeless basis nearly five years ago, fought bitterly to the end, shouting a defiant "no" as the vote was ordered, then recording 266 votes against the bill. The conservatives got 284 votes for the bill, a majority of 18.

Miss Pat Hornsby-Smith, parliamentary secretary to the ministry of health, told the House the conservatives regretted the necessity for the bill, which she said was forced on the country by its financial troubles.

Hilary Marquand, laborite minister of health before last October's elections put the Tories in power, promised the labor party will "bring all these charges to an end" if it regains power.

The charges include one shilling (14 cents) for a prescription, a maximum of one pound ($2.80) for dental treatment, and charges for such things as false teeth, surgical belts and other medical appliances.

Governor Gives His Version Of Jackson Mutiny

LANSING—(AP)—Governor Williams yesterday gave the people and the Legislature his first detailed explanation of how and why the Southern Michigan prison riot was handled the way it was.

He said, in part: "The purpose of this mutiny can be appreciated only in the light of the emotionally unstable personalities of those who led it. Their desire was to obtain publicity for certain grievances, real and fancied. The honest desire of Warden Frisbie to conceal nothing from the public became a weapon in the hands of the rebellious inmates. The notoriety they received inflated their distorted egos, increased the danger to hostages and prolonged their resistance."

Told To Stay Away

The governor said that during the negotiations with the embattled convicts in cell block 15 he was "strongly advised" by the State Police commissioner, corrections commissioner and warden not to come near the prison.

"It was rightly feared," Williams said, "that if the convicts were able to negotiate directly with the officer having power of pardon and commutation, the rebellion might have been prolonged indefinitely."

"I was advised by the State Police commissioner and the corrections commissioner about 9:30 p. m., Wednesday that we could no longer temporize with the situation. Both officials felt that unless the mutiny could be ended by persuasion that night, the prisoners would get completely out of hand, and the hostages would be slain. Both said that unless a surrender could be arranged the cell block would have to be stormed."

Detroit Kidnap Slayer Hunted

DETROIT—(AP)—A missing Texas salesman was sought for questioning today in the abduction slaying of 19-year-old Calvin Williams and the wounding of his fiancée.

Police named him as James D. Foster, 32, salesman for a San Antonio truck agency.

Foster was sought after a Berrien county woman told of being abducted Saturday by a man who fitted the description of Williams' abductor.

State Police also want Foster for allegedly passing bad checks in St. Joseph.

An abandoned car believed to have been driven by Foster was found here Monday. Papers belonging to him were found in the car.

Young Williams, son of a well-to-do Detroit Negro contractor, was shot to death in Huron township Saturday.

A "fat-faced" man about 30 or 35 had forced Williams and his fiancée, Patricia Stevenson, 19, to drive him from Detroit to a secluded road where he shot both young people. He took Williams' wallet.

After being critically wounded from a shot in the head, Miss Stevenson recovered sufficiently yesterday to tell police a full story.

Gasoline Shortages Spread In Oil Tieup

DENVER—(AP)—The continuing strike of 22 AFL, Independent and CIO Oil Workers' unions today threatened further shortages of gasoline for the nation's motorists, truckers and air transport.

So far, the three-day-old strike of refinery and pipeline workers for a wage increase has brought voluntary rationing of gasoline to motorists in Boston; filling station pumps are running dry in the Chicago-Gary area; pickets halted gasoline deliveries to stations in Toledo, Ohio.

Government officials said a prolonged strike would bring on a major shortage of gasoline if the 45-day supply on hand is cut in half.

The Petroleum Administration for Defense ordered deliveries of some petroleum products prohibited to dealers or big consumers with more than 10 days' sup-

Reds Spurn U. N. Plan For Settling Truce Deadlock In Korea

By ROBERT B. TUCKMAN

MUNSAN, Korea—(AP)—Communist negotiators today refused to agree to a United Nations Command package proposal for settling the Korean armistice deadlock.

The Red reply was given in a secret full dress session of armistice delegations. The chief negotiators scheduled another meeting for tomorrow at 11 a. m. (9 p. m. Friday EST). This gave rise to speculation the Communists may have offered a compromise plan.

But Vice Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief United Nations delegate, and

Brig. Gen. William P. Nuckols, UNC spokesman, refused to say what happened in the 78-minute session at Panmunjom.

"I regret I have no comment to make," Joy said.

Nuckols told newsmen it was "obvious that no agreement was reached."

Chief problems blocking an armistice are how to exchange prisoners of war, Russian participation in truce supervision, and rehabilitation of military airfields during a truce.

Nuckols said North Korean Gen. Nam Il, the Reds' No. 1 negotiator, did most of the talking. It was the first meeting of the main armistice delegations since they recessed Monday to permit the Communists time to study the Allied plan.

Asked if the discussion was on the basis of the Allied "overall solution" Nuckols replied "that is the only topic for discussion." Later, however, he called newsmen together to correct what he called an "erroneous impression" that no other topic was discussed.

Asked if the Reds had submitted a counterproposal, Nuckols said: "I cannot answer that, obviously." The secrecy cloaking the meetings was imposed at the request of the Allies.

Marquette Legislator Alvin E. Richards Collapses In Lansing

LANSING—(AP)—Rep. Alvin E. Richards (R-Marquette) was reported "resting very comfortably" today in Edward W. Sparrow Hospital after he had collapsed in the House lobby.

Richards was stricken yesterday just before the legislature convened. He was treated in the lobby by Dr. Leland R. McElmurry of Lansing and removed to the hospital in an ambulance.

Dr. McElmurry said he suspected Richards was stricken with a heart attack, but he withheld a final diagnosis pending results of an electrocardiogram.

Richards, 65, was elected to the legislature first in 1946. He has served continuously since then and is chairman of the committee on revision and amendment of the constitution.

"And that," said an usher, "is the East Room Walk."

The diplomatic reception, first of seven, will be followed in the next three weeks by parties for the press and for military and naval officers.

Pentagon Protests Cut In 52 Billion U. S. Defense Budget

By JACK RUTLEDGE

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Closed-door hearings on the $52-billion defense bill continued today with a parade of top Pentagon leaders asking the Senate to restore some 4½ billions cut by the House.

The Senate appropriations committee studying the House bill, which will appropriate funds to the armed services for the 12 months beginning July 1, already has heard defense Secretary Lovett and others protest.

Lovett particularly criticized the House amendment which would limit defense spending to 46 billions—regardless of whether the money came from new appropriations, or was unspent funds from previous appropriations.

Sen. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo) today said he agreed with those who argue against this limit on military spending. He said it would delay production of new planes, tanks, ships and "the fantastic new weapons we heard so much about a year ago."

Marines Jolted By Atom Bomb

By BILL BECKER

CAMP DESERT ROCK, Nev.—(AP)—More than 2,000 Marines have taken the roughest buffetting ever dished out to troops by an atomic bomb, but the majority seems sold on the bomb as a friend in the field.

The fiery low-level burst on Yucca Flat yesterday decimated much of their equipment with 900 yards of ground zero, but the two picked combat battalions came charging out of their foxholes on signal from their maneuver commander, Brig. Gen. Joseph C. Burger of Camp Pendleton, Calif.

While high ground radiation kept troops from moving to ground zero, Gen. Burger said that "in a battlefield situation we would have had no fear of going through."

The advance was halted within 500 yards of the target, which was surrounded with burning planes, trucks and smashed machineguns—showing graphically what would have happened to the enemy.

One M-7 tank was blown 80 feet and flipped on its back, Gen. Burger said.

But he pointed out to his men that dummies placed in close-up foxholes received very slight damage, whereas dummies placed upright above ground farther back were completely destroyed.

Staff Sgt. Edward L. Speck, 34, Tuckerton, N. J., said he saw stand-up dummies blown 150 yards and burned to a crisp a half mile from the target.

Murray Orders 650,000 To End Their Walkout

By ROWLAND EVANS JR.
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The CIO steel workers, responding to a request from President Truman, today called off their strike while the big legal battle over government seizure of the mills shifted to the supreme court.

Union President Philip Murray announced in Pittsburgh he had ordered his 650,000 men to go back to work "as soon as possible."

Union aides said they anticipated there would be working crews for the normal 3 p. m. (EST) mill shifts.

Murray also accepted an invitation from Truman to confer at the White House tomorrow with industry leaders.

In Supreme Court

There had been no formal acceptance from the industry men but lawyers for the steel companies told reporters here the management representatives undoubtedly would accept.

On the legal side, the steel industry went to the Supreme Court with a plea that it (1) uphold the ruling by U. S. District Judge David A. Pine that Truman lacked any legal authority to seize the steel mills, and (2) forbid the government to raise wages while the court is considering the momentous issue.

By this move, the industry got the jump on government attorneys.

Potato Supplies To Get Better

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Potato supplies, now short in many areas, are going to get better. But before they do the shortage may get worse.

This word came from the Office of Price Stabilization today in a bulletin, "The Facts About Potatoes." Officials said it was designed to clarify the price and supply situation.

Supplies should begin improving by the first of June with the new crop moving to market in volume, the OPS said. The quantity of new potatoes and the speed with which they are marketed will determine the length of the critical supply period, the agency said.

"The present shortage of white potatoes would have developed regardless of price controls, the bulletin said. "It was the threatened shortage which caused the price rise last year and that in turn made ceilings necessary."

"Some people have jumped to the conclusion that OPS ceilings caused the shortage. That is a wrong conclusion. The shortage existed before OPS ceilings were imposed."

Nude Body Of Woman Stab Victim Found In Bag At Wichita, Kas.

WICHITA, Kas.—(AP)—The nude body of an auburn-haired woman, with four stab wounds between her breasts, was found last night stuffed in a barracks bag.

The woman, about 22 or 23 years old and five feet tall, was not identified.

Edward Bircher, a builder, found the bag under the porch of a home. He investigated after noticing an odor.

Officers called the death "The most cold-blooded murder in the history of Wichita."

Her clothing, including a white uniform either of a nurse or waitress, also was stuffed in the bag.

Science Editor Of AP, Howard Blakeslee, Dies

A member of the Associated Press staff since 1905, Blakeslee only recently returned from viewing the atomic bomb tests in Nevada. It was his second view of atomic explosions. He covered the first tests at Bikini.

Recruiting In Britain Put On 22-Year Basis

LONDON—(AP)—Britain is recruiting its military forces on a 22-year basis.

Enlistments, however, have a loophole under regulations which went into effect yesterday. Military personnel can drop out at the end of any three-year period by giving six months' notice.

For members of the women's royal army corps it is even easier. They can drop out anytime just by getting married.

Court Grants Exhibit Survey To Lindenthals

Permission to inspect certain financial records held by the plaintiff in support of his suit for accounting against Frank and George Lindenthal and radio station WDBC was granted to the defendants by Circuit Judge Glenn W. Jackson in a special session of court here this morning.

Examination of all the documents of financial transactions as requested by the defendants in their bill of discovery was denied by the court.

The inspection it did authorize was limited to certain specific records of expenditures on the basis that "a reasonable opportunity for discovery will narrow the issues and save time at the hearing."

Hearing Set June 25

Tentative date set by the court for hearing of the case is June 25.

The suit for an accounting of the defendants, Frank and George Lindenthal, of their handling of the funds of the estate of John P. Norton, late publisher and owner of the Escanaba Daily Press, was instituted by Norton about two months previous to his death in July, 1950. The suit is now being continued by Atty. James E. Frost, executor of the Norton estate.

Plaintiff's counsel is the law firm of McGinn & Fitzharris. Defendants' attorney is Wheaton Strom.

The time period allowed by the court for the defendants and their attorney to study the exhibits was set at five days, with probable place of inspection being the business office of the Escanaba Daily Press. It was expected the examination would take place next week.

Time To Reply

After the completion of discovery, the petitioners will be granted a ten-day period in which to file a further plea. This will be followed by a five-day period in which the plaintiff can reply to the defendants' statements.

The court denied defendants' petition to examine some of the records on the basis of immateriality. To the defendants' request to examine a "small black notebook," the whereabouts of which the plaintiff disclaimed any knowledge, Judge Jackson stated that he could not "grant discovery of matter not known to be in existence."

The bill for discovery was filed in Delta county Circuit Court April 21 and presented in court session in Dickinson county Tuesday of this week. The hearing was continued from that session to the special session here today.

A "Liberty" pageant, demonstration of Boy Scout practices and the awarding of a Certificate of Merit, for saving the life of a child, to Allan Paul of Rapid River will be featured at tomorrow night's Red Buck District Boy Scout circus here.

Approximately 600 Cub and Boy Scouts from Delta, Schoolcraft and north Menominee counties will participate in the event which will begin at 8 p. m. in the Junior High School gymnasium.

Stars of the circus will be the participating Scouts who will present ten acts, five portraying the

The circus will conclude with the presentation of the honored Certificate of Merit for meritorious action to Allan Paul, nine-year-old Cub Scout of the Rapid River pack. He is being cited for saving the life of a 16-months old infant, Stephen Pyke, in the Tacosah River June 26, 1951.

First Citation in U. P.

The citation is first to be bestowed on a Cub Scout in the Upper Peninsula, according to Andy Houston, district Scout executive.

In the first act to be presented by the Boy Scouts, methods used through the ages to send messages from point to point will be demonstrated.

The second act, "Directions by the Stars," will be followed by a humorous presentation of first aid activities.

An Indian ceremonial dance will then be staged by the Scouts. Construction of four complete camp sites and a 'monkey bridge' will exhibit the pioneering techniques of the Scouts.

These acts will be presented by Scouts between the ages of 11 and 14. The pageant which will open the program will consist of five acts presented by the Cub Scouts.

John Hagerman, Scoutmaster of Troop 454 of Escanaba, will be program announcer and master of ceremonies.

Payment Stations For Utility Bills Named By Council

To facilitate the payment of city utility bills without the necessity of traveling to City Hall, the City Council last night named three collection stations in North Escanaba.

Requests for the opportunity to serve the city without cost in that capacity were the proprietors of three grocery stores: Elmer & Ray, Art Messier, and Norman Dahlke.

The city manager was authorized to enter into an agreement with the three for the establishment of the collection service, as a convenience to city utility customers.

In other business the Council opened bids for the sale to the city of propane gas from two concerns, the Cities Service Oil Company, St. Paul, Minn., and the Falley Petroleum Company, Chicago.

The poor response to the city's advertisement for bids was held to be the result of shortage in gas shipping and storage facilities nationally, said City Manager A. V. Aronson.

The city seeks a contract for a year's supply of propane gas starting June 1.

Both bids were referred to John Clark, superintendent of the gas plant, for analysis and recommendation.

Vote On New Jail

BAD AXE—(AP)—Huron county voters will decide in a special election June 3 whether to increase taxes to pay for a new jail.

The present county jail has been condemned. A previous three-year one-mill levy raised $101,000 but the lowest bid was $143,000. The new proposal is for a one-mill additional tax to run for two years.

Council Upholds Residence Zone

Agreeing with residents of the area and upholding Planning Commission recommendations, the Escanaba City Council last night approved zoning a city-owned area east of the fair grounds to Class B residential.

Public hearing was held in the matter involving the city's disposal of about 20 lots, with five and one-half lots fronting on North 21st St.

Council reserved from sale the five and one-half lots, which might in future be in demand for light industry, but will advertise for sale for residential use the remaining lots. Minimum value of the lots will be established by the city.

The City Planning Commission recommended action similar to that taken by the Council.

Decorate City Hall

Appearing before the Council in public hearing were Victor Derouin, Deloria LeBlanc, Jack Greiss and James Doran.

In connection with the city's sale of one and one-half lots to William DeCock, in which it was alleged that DeCock failed to carry out his agreement to begin construction of a commercial enterprise within two years, the city manager was authorized to begin proceedings to recover the property for the city.

Other business before the Council included approval of a low bid of $1,576.60 by Arne Sviland for redecorating the city hall interior. The other bidder was Alfred Sviland with a bid of $1,599.10.

A proposed amendment to the city zoning ordinance in relation to the spacing of homes on lots was accepted for first reading and will be given public hearing June 1. The amendment was recommended by the Planning Commission.

Audit Is Defended

Council also authorized awarding of a contract to Universal Gas Conversion Company, whose bid of $26,000 was low, for its service in converting city gas metered outlets to the new propane gas.

Hilmer Johnson, public accountant, read a statement to the council in which he objected strenuously to a reference by Harold C. Hayes at the council meeting April 17 that the last audit was the "first honest audit" the city has had.

"I believe that a public apology is in order to the council and me with reference to the statement 'First Honest Audit' inasmuch as I was connected with the audit of the City of Escanaba in three different years," he said in part.

Miss Evelyn Fillion Dies In Seattle

Miss Evelyn Fillion, 80, native Escanaba, and a former Seattle school teacher, died Monday in a Seattle hospital. She was the owner of the Franklin Apartments, 2302 4th Ave., Seattle, where she lived.

Trailer Parking Law Considered

How long should the city allow trailers to be parked in Escanaba? Should the trailer-owners be permitted to move from one location to another in the city?

These and other questions in connection with the problem of trailer residents were discussed by the City Council in meeting last night, and the matter was referred to the City Planning Commission for study and recommendation.

The present trailer ordinance of 1949 stipulated conditions under which trailers could be used as homes in the city. At that time there were 12 trailer-occupants who could, by annual application to the city, continue to use their trailers for homes. Nine of the 12 are still trailer-dwellers.

One of the nine trailers is occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Harold Minor. Last night Mrs. Minor appeared before the Council to ask if it was not possible to move from one lot to another in the city in their trailer.

In another case an individual has rented a lot and is establishing his trailer home in a residential area. One neighbor objects, the others approve having the trailer there, it was reported to the Council.

A third case was presented to the Council by a home owner who said that a large trailer had been parked on an adjacent lot, and he wanted to know how long it might remain there.

The problem of trailers and their use and regulation will be reviewed by the Planning Commission, followed by a recommended ordinance change.

In another business before the Council the Skerbeck carnival was granted permission to show in Escanaba from May 13 through 19; transfer of a beer license from Joseph Osier Jr. to Joseph Osier Sr. was approved; and the city manager was authorized to transfer third-quarter city utilities profits to the general fund.

Council Ponders Crossing Signal

Proposed erection of automatic flasher signals to replace four flagmen at the Chicago & North Western Railway crossing at Stephenson Ave. was discussed by Escanaba City Council last night and referred to the recently appointed Safety Advisory Council for study and recommendation.

The Safety Advisory Council was asked to report at the next meeting of the Council.

Action by the City Council in the matter has been slow. It was brought to the Council more than a year ago by the railroad with a request for approval. The Council disapproved.

Railroad Men Opposed
Appearing before the Council last night, H. T. Fleisher, Chicago, C&NW signal engineer, and G. C. Stuart, Escanaba, Peninsula Division superintendent, again submitted the railroad's request for approval. The request will also go to the Michigan Public Service Commission, the final authority.

Opposition to the change from flagmen to automatic flasher signal at the crossing was voiced by Donald Rheame, district chairman of the Maintenance of Way Employees, and Elmer LaPlante, veteran switchman for the C&NW. Both said the present system of flagmen is safer and if the change is made the flagmen would be out of jobs.

Stuart pointed out that it is the railroad unions, not the railroad, that establishes loss of seniority for the flagmen. Some of the men are old enough to retire on pension.

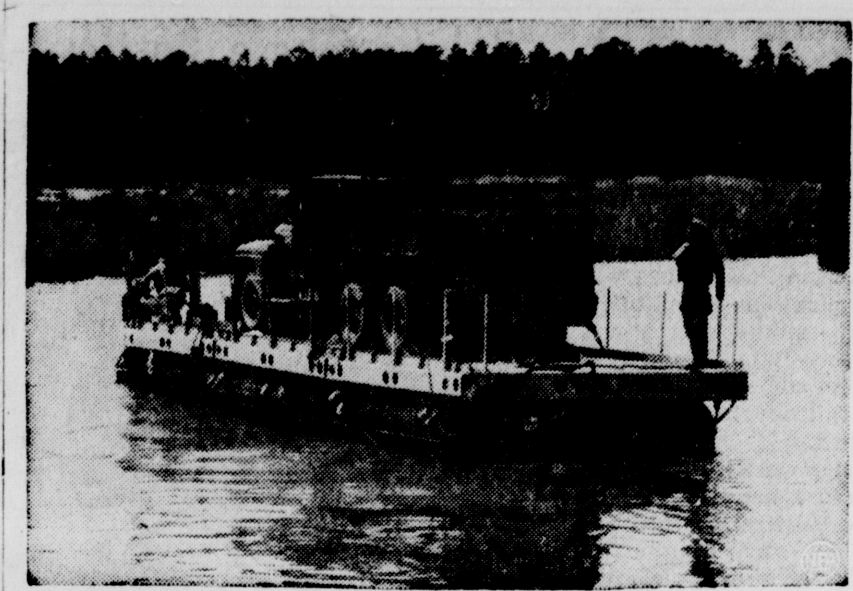

LaPlante said there never has been a fatal accident at the crossing. City Manager A. V. Aronson reported that four accidents have occurred there so far this year.

Ask Street Work
Following considerable discussion the problem was referred to the Safety Advisory Council for study and recommendation.

In other business before the Council a petition was received from residents of Seventh Ave. N. from Stephenson Ave. west to North 21st St. who asked improvement of the street. It was referred to the city engineer for preparation of cost estimates.

A dance permit was approved for a tavern owned by Al Wiles; and a recommendation of the Planning Commission to have but one entrance road to the bridge leading to Ludington Park beach was approved.

A communication was received from John Parins expressing appreciation to the North Escanaba firemen for their prompt work in extinguishing a fire in his paper warehouse at Wells on April 23.

The inflatable craft, made of three sausage-shaped tubes which support an aluminum deck, is 36 feet long and 12 feet wide. It can be rolled into a package three feet high by 10 feet long, easily transportable by plane.

Maurice Miller Participating In Army Atom Tests

CAMP DESERT ROCK, Nev. — (Special) — More than 1,000 hand-picked, combat soldiers—including Corporal Maurice C. Miller of 601 South 17th St., Escanaba—are participating in the Army's continuing field tests of atomic warfare.

Tactical training provided the men during the big maneuvers marks the most extensive use of atomic weapons with combat troops in military history. The maneuver is the fourth phase of an atomic training program known as Exercise Desert Rock.

Every man will have a "front row" seat for at least one of the spectacular atomic explosions. The combat troops have been assigned to foxholes at the shortest distance from the atom's detonation point yet used in troop maneuvers.

In addition to seeing and feeling an atomic explosion, the combat soldiers will maneuver in the area of the burst—attacking and securing a simulated military objective beyond it.

Cpl. Miller, a rifleman, is a member of the 31st "Dixie" Infantry Division stationed at Camp Atterbury, Ind. Inducted on May 17, 1951, he took basic training with the 8th Division at Fort Jackson, S. C. Subsequently he attended leadership and infantry schools. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Percy Miller, live at the 17th St. address. His wife, LaDonna E. Miller, lives in Gladstone, Mich. Miller was formerly employed by Nash-Kelvinator in Milwaukee.

Cliffs Dow Workers Get Wage Increase

The Michigan Wage Stabilization Board has approved a five cents per hour general wage increase for 326 employees of Cliffs Dow Chemical Co., Marquette, Mich., it was announced today by M. S. Ryder, regional WSB chairman.

Basis for unanimous approval of the 11th Armored Cavalry Regiment, and the 369th Engineer Regiment.

the 12-man tripartite Regional Board was WSB Regulation 17 which permits Board-sanctioned increases to correct bona fide interplant inequities. There are no other large chemical plants in Michigan's Upper Peninsula, but a survey of rates paid in such plants in the upper part of the Lower Peninsula showed the raise to be in order, Ryder said. The wage boost is effective December 17, 1951.

At the same time the Board approved a proposal that Cliffs Dow employees be given eight hours straight time pay for six legal holidays not worked.

Good Planning May Have Averted Iron Mountain's Economic Pinch

THE economic squeeze that has developed at Iron Mountain as a result of the industrial transition in that community and in neighboring Kingsford indicates all too clearly that the abandonment of the Ford Motor Company operations there came about much too abruptly for the community's welfare.

At a time when the Ford Motor Company is expanding its own facilities in the metropolitan Detroit area to handle its national defense contracts as well as to maintain automobile production, the company abandoned its operations at Iron Mountain-Kingsford, leaving that area in an economic pinch that is now becoming more serious by the day.

Approximately 2,000 persons are unemployed in the Iron Mountain area. Savings and unemployment compensation checks have helped to prevent extreme hardships among those who have been forced out of work as a result of the abandonment of the Ford plant. The savings are dwindling and in some cases already exhausted. Worse, the unemployment compensation checks are being exhausted too and by another month nearly all of the former Ford workers at Iron Mountain will have received the last of their unemployment compensation checks.

The real tragedy is that the new owners of the Ford plant have been unable to attract sufficient manufacturers to utilize the idle facilities there and to employ the idle workers.

Five months have elapsed since the Ford Motor Company closed its operations at Iron Mountain. At the outset it appeared that the community would be able to take this blow pretty much in stride because it appeared then that there would be a number of industries eager to utilize the industrial advantages that Iron Mountain had to offer. Why this has not materialized is still difficult to understand.

The concern of Iron Mountain and Kingsford in their economic plight is to a lesser degree also the concern of Escanaba and other communities of the Upper Peninsula. Aside from the human element, the natural compassion of neighbors for the economic tragedies of their friends, the difficulties that Iron Mountain is experiencing in attracting the new industries that are so sorely needed there are of interest to us because they adversely affect other communities of the Upper Peninsula.

All of this could have been avoided, we believe, if the Ford Motor Company had handled this problem of industrial transition with more understanding and in greater recognition of a moral obligation to a community which, to a large degree, it created and developed.

'Short' Course In Quick Correction

IN some states and cities, the department of correction is an agency concerned with administering penal institutions and the like.

In the United States government, it is a special arm of the executive branch, with headquarters in the White House. Its purpose is setting the record straight after President Truman has held one of his regular press conferences.

Its services were called upon most recently to explain that an ultimatum which Mr. Truman said he had sent to Joseph Stalin had not in fact ever been issued. Joseph Short, the President's secretary in charge of the press relations of the White House, deserves the admiration of us all. As head of the department of correction in Washington, he is called upon to act with speed and often amazing ingenuity in the performance of his arduous duties.

FOUNDATIONS (Green Bay Press-Gazette)

The House did the smart thing by voting for an investigation of tax-exempt educational and philanthropic organizations.

It should not merely be whether these great reservoirs of American wealth have been tapped for un-American and subversive activities but whether or not their great incomes are devoted to education and philanthropies. Naturally if their funds are being expended for unlawful purposes, such as subversion, the procedure must be halted.

The fact that some Red worms, such as Mr. Hiss himself, have worked their way into such an organization as the Carnegie Endowment of International Peace. Some funds from the Rockefeller Foundation have been used to finance persons, such as Owen Lattimore, whose aims are not always in line with American interests. Funds from the Ford Foundation have been allocated to India, perhaps in a perfectly proper and commendable manner, but it is onething to tell the press that some millions are being devoted to the improvement of Indian agriculture and quite another thing to see that the funds are so employed in fact.

As a whole these foundations have performed some marvelous works. Never has any question arisen concerning the benefits intended by their creators, men who actually wanted to benefit humanity and did not want to curse their children nor their heirs with loads of wealth far too vast for one or a few to handle merely for their own personal benefit.

Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON—Last weekend everything was all set inside the government to give the steelworkers a wage increase, regardless of the courts and whether the steel industry liked it or not. This was before Judge Pine's decision that seizure was illegal. Suddenly the plan was called off.

Reason for the last-minute switch was not the argument before Judge David Pine or protests by the steel companies, but the intervention of the railroad brotherhoods. Here is what happened.

Hearing that the steelworkers were due to have a wage increase handed them by the government, Roy Hughes, president of the Brotherhood of Railway Conductors, got in touch with Charles Murphy, counsel to the President, told him of a letter the brotherhoods had received from Karl Bendetsen, assistant secretary of the Army, who is now operating the railroads on behalf of the government.

Bendetsen had written Hughes that under the executive order by which the Army took over the railroads, he was not authorized to grant a wage increase. He expressed his sympathy for such an increase, but said that under the circumstances he was powerless.

The railroads have now been operated under the government for about two years, Hughes reminded White House counsel Murphy. If a wage increase is now granted to the steelworkers after less than a month, with no wage increase granted to the railroad brotherhoods, then there would be real trouble among railroad labor.

In fact, Hughes intimated that it would be extremely difficult to prevent a strike—even against the government of the United States.

White House counsel Murphy dashed back to the White House, stopped the proposed wage increase to the steelworkers. That was why John Steelman, who had been planning the increase, immediately got busy negotiating with the railroad brotherhoods.

"ALL IS MADE FOR LOVE"

Congressman Frank Boykin, the gentleman from Mobile, who preaches "Everything is made for love" but who practices "Everything is made for loans," is facing a tough re-election fight next Tuesday in Alabama.

Never before in Frank's long years of bear-hunting, turkey, shooting, coon-eating and getting family loans from the RFC has he appeared so worried about getting re-elected. Apparently, his record in Washington is becoming pretty well known among the folks back home.

At any rate, the congressman is flooding Mobile with publicity, has peppered the countryside with billboards, is distributing advertising blotters, advertising emery wheels and has hired a helicopter which, descending near the ground, startles the public by booming a jingle out over a loud-speaker entitled "Build with Boykin."

Frank seems to figure that it will take a lot of jingling and helicoptering to make people forget how he pulled wires to keep two notorious tax chiselers, Joe Mitchell and Sam Rips, out of jail; also to forget how he got a $700,000 RFC loan for the Mobile Paper Company, after which he and his children turned up with 40 per cent interest in the company.

Apparently he also wants voters to forget about the $300,000 RFC loan he got for the Stuts Lumber Co., which purchased lumber from Boykin. Later, three members of the Thomasville, Ala., bank which benefited from this loan, were indicted.

Running against the "All is made for love" congressman are two candidates:

1. Joe Thompson, former prosecuting attorney from Butler, Ala., with an A-1 record, who many people think really defeated Boykin in the last primary. Later a vote-fraud scandal showed that prostitutes and city machine ballot-stuffers voted as often as 21 times—as a result of which 16 ballot-box stuffers were given criminal sentences.

2. Ben Glover, who in many respects is a second edition of Boykin and recently split from the city machine. Peter Crolich, cate operator, who got 18 months in jail plus a $2,000 fine for vote frauds, is one of Glover's energetic backers. Glover seems to have about as much money to spend on election publicity as Boykin and a lot of people are wondering first where the money is coming from, second whether they will have a replica of Boykin in Congress if Glover is elected.

THREE SENATORS FROM FLORIDA Sen. Spessard Holland of Florida may not know it, but his senatorial colleague from Florida, George Smathers, also a Democrat, made some quiet overtures to get Ex-Sen. Claude Pepper to run against him in the current primary.

The overture came from Smathers' close friend, Dick Danner, who telephoned Pepper's close friend John Montgomery to say: "We want you to know that if Claude wants to run against Holland he could count on about 200 Smathers leaders to support him."

"I Like These Battles—I Always Win!"

Death Of FDR And Willkie Ended 1944 Plans To Form 'New Party'

By NEA Service
NEW YORK—(NEA) — The deaths of Wendell Willkie and Franklin Roosevelt put an end to talks which might have completely reorganized America's political parties. The story of those discussions has been revealed by the one man who knew about them—Judge Samuel Rosenman, a trusted Roosevelt adviser.

It was in the Summer of 1944, when Roosevelt was campaigning against Gov. Thomas Dewey, that he called Rosenman into his office.

"We ought to have in the United States two real parties," Rosenman quotes Roosevelt as saying, "one representing the liberal and the other the conservative point of view. As it is now, each party is split by dissenters. The Southern reactionaries have no right to call themselves Democrats today, and have no right to stay in our party with its liberal platform. In the same way Willkie and the Republican progressives don't belong in the party of (ex-President Herbert) Hoover and (Rep. Joseph) Martin and (Sen. John) Bricker."

The President went on, Rosenman continues in his article in the May issue of Ladies' Home Journal, to reveal his plan. He and Willkie would form a "new, really liberal party in America" from the liberals of both parties. Roosevelt asked his adviser to contact Willkie and discuss the idea with him.

Rosenman went to New York and arranged a meeting with Willkie, who, as the Republican presidential nominee in 1940, had campaigned against Roosevelt. They met at the St. Regis Hotel in New York on July 5. The meeting was so secret that Willkie went into an adjoining room when the waiter brought lunch, so he wouldn't be seen with Rosenman. FDR's emissary explained Roosevelt's ideas, telling Willkie that the President felt they "were both thinking along the same lines."

"He wants to team up with you," Rosenman says he told Willkie, "for he is sure that the two of you can do it together."

Willkie was enthusiastic. He said his own (Republican) party was controlled by the reactionaries, and felt that "both parties are hybrids." Rosenman says he got the impression Willkie was excited about the same side with, rather than against, Roosevelt.

"You tell the President," Rosenman says Willkie told him, "that I'm ready to devote almost full time to this. A sound, liberal government in the United States is absolutely essential to continued co-operation with the other nations of the world. I know these reactionaries—especially those in my own party. They'll run out on the other nations when the going gets tough—just as soon as they can."

Willkie set one condition. He didn't want to do anything until after the election, the coming November. It was his feeling that, as a Republican party leader, he would be accused of trading or being traded with if he met openly with Roosevelt during the not campaign.

Roosevelt, however, when he heard from Rosenman how eagerly Willkie accepted the suggestion, was impatient. Without consulting anyone even Rosenman, he sat down on July 13 and wrote Willkie a letter. In it, he suggested they sit down and talk about the plan before the election.

Somehow, news of the letter leaked out. Rosenman suggests that Roosevelt himself let it leak. He denied having written Willkie at a press conference, and sent Willkie another letter apologizing for the fact that news of the letter reached the press. In the second letter, dated August 21, he again suggested a meeting. Willkie never replied. He drafted a letter, which was never mailed, saying that he was "intensely interested" in the project. But he reiterated his position that a meeting before the election

"might well be the subject of misinterpretation and misunderstanding."

Before the election could come, Willkie was dead. Roosevelt died five months after the election. He never mentioned his big idea again.

I favor President Truman. I'd rather have him as an opponent than anyone else.—Sen. Robert Taft.

WORLD CALENDAR—Some Americans, perhaps from too long association with isolationism, have discounted everything the United Nations seeks to do.

But one of the least controversial and most strongly recommended subjects supported by the U. N. is the proposed adoption of a world calendar.

Back of the proposal is the World Calendar Association and a campaign lasting 20 years. A world calendar, part of the effort to create world order, has received strong support in the United Nations, where its proponents consider it completely non-political.

Any proposal to revise the calendar, however, is sure to be met with opposition from some quarters. Change is unwelcome in any guise to some people, who care more for the status quo than convenience and progress.

CAUSE AND EFFECT — The present calendar with its unequal months and quarters, and its shifting weekdays, causes vexations and confusions that touch all our living ways.

The proposed world calendar is quite simple and is not a radical departure from what we know. Every date will fall on the same weekday, even in leap years. The four quarters of the calendar year are identical in every respect.

Each of the 12 months (on the world calendar) contains 26 business days. It is a standard and unvarying, a balanced and regular, calendar. Christmas, Dec. 25, for example, will forever fall on Monday. Other holidays will come at weekends.

Such a calendar would provide many benefits in increased production, time saved. It would end that bugaboo of absenteeism caused by midweek holidays—estimated to cost wage earners $400,000,000 lost pay per year.

REVISED MANY TIMES — Primitive and civilized men have been sparring around with the calendar for thousands of years.

Revision is nothing new. The Chinese had a calendar 2,000 years before Christ; the Egyptians devised a system based on the flooding and receding of the Nile.

About 45 B. C., Julius Caesar worked out a better calendar, but it was complicated, irregular and awkward. That Julian calendar is still used in parts of Europe, however, and there is also in current use in the world a Coptic, Iranian, Jewish, Chinese, Japanese, Arabian, Hindu and other calendars.

In 1582 Pope Gregory took the Julian calendar and corrected its leap year error. The British and their American colonies persisted in the use of the Julian calendar, however, until 1752—and in adopting the Gregorian calendar "lost" eleven days in 24 hours.

MOST FOR IT — The World Calendar Association's proposed new calendar was placed for adoption before the United Nations in 1949.

At that time 47 nations unofficially supported the calendar; none opposed it. But the United States for reasons that have never been made clear asked delay "because of lack of time."

Canada was opposed to postponement. That country has taken a positive stand in favor of the calendar, backed by railways, organized labor, and manufacturers.

POSITION UNTENABLE—The United States in asking for "more time" before adoption of a world calendar is playing into the hands of those who would defeat progressive revision.

It was an American, Ben Franklin, who in 1752, introduced the then "new" calendar to the colonies. Most of his 1752 edition of Poor Richard's Almanac was devoted to the subject.

Politicians are not above minor tinkering instead of unified revision. The late President Roosevelt messed around with Thanksgiving Day to the point of confusion.

The United States, recognized world leader, should also take the lead in adoption of the world calendar. Favorable international action this year would lead to adoption in 1956—when on Sunday, Jan. 1, the Gregorian and World calendars will coincide.

Power With Words

By Dr. C. E. Funk

MORE ABOUT "HASSLE"

Several months ago, in answer to an inquiry, I touched briefly on the word "hassle," sometimes spelled "hassel." The word keeps cropping up in news articles and popular magazines, and, since it is not to be found in any of the current dictionaries, it's about time to talk about it.

Those who use the word give it the meaning "a wrangled, noisy dispute, wordy argument." Sometimes it's a verb—"to engage in wordy argument"—sometimes a noun. In the current sense, as far as I have been able to learn, it made its appearance about 1944 or 1945. Some of the users with whom I have corresponded think it may have been based on a German word; but an acquaintance who served in the German army through the late war is certain that could not have been. The nearest German word is "haseln," which means "to squeak like a hare."

But the term may have been spread through soldier use, nevertheless, although that is just a guess. In some of our southern states there is a dialectal word, "hassel," which means "to breathe noisily; to pant, like a dog that has been racing." Probably it is not widely used, since it has rarely appeared in print. It is likely that the southern use, however, grew out of an English dialect word, traced to Kent, England. In that use it meant "to wheeze, to breathe roughly or thickly."

My guess is, therefore, that our present use developed in either of two ways. It may have spread through soldiers stationed at army camps in the South who, hearing the word for the first time, enlarged its meaning, or it may with equal ease have been picked up and given a new meaning by one or more of our various units encamped in Kent during the war.

Community Chest Idea Is Growing

EVEN conceding that there is much to be done and many problems still to be solved before it will be possible to coordinate all social, welfare and charitable fund-raising programs in a single campaign, there are encouraging signs that substantial progress is being made toward this goal.

Last year the Delta County Community Chest successfully met its obligations to its participating agencies and established the Chest on a sound, permanent basis. This was achieved in the face of earlier difficulties which forced abandonment for two years of the Community Chest program in Delta County.

The most formidable argument against the single campaign for multiple purposes is that it does not allow the giver to choose the beneficiaries of his charity. It is a good argument and one that must be met and solved before the single campaign idea can be completely successful and before those agencies that now hold out against the pressures to join the Community Chest will capitulate.

We believe that this can be accomplished by a sincere willingness to do the extra bookkeeping that would be necessary to meet this objection. It would require a system of accounting that would assure that the funds of each contributor actually would reach his beneficiaries and that none of his funds would go to agencies which for one reason or another, the contributor did not desire to benefit.

In all probability the problem of attaining this result would not be a monumental one because it is generally conceded that all of the agencies that participate in the Community Chest are deserving of public support, that each makes a generous contribution to the benefit of all society. In other words, the number of individual contributors who would restrict their contributions for specific purposes is not likely to be large.

The single campaign idea, however, is a conscientious program that eliminates duplication of effort and reduces the number of volunteer man-hours that are required each year to raise the funds that support our welfare and charitable programs.

The Doctor Says . . . Cases of Severe Phobia Call For Psychiatric Treatment

By EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D. — Written for NEA Service

A correspondent writes that she has a neurosis of fear and is always depressed with everything. She says that she has been fighting this terrible thing for years and wonders what can be done about it.

Now, fear can be either normal or abnormal. Doubtless, there are few living persons who have not at sometime been afraid in the presence of real risk, but when there exists a fear of something which is imaginary, or which carries only slight danger, the reaction is called a phobia or obsession.

In severe cases which persons cannot overcome by themselves, this may be a symptom of real mental disease, and the aid of a psychiatrist should be sought. There are many kinds of fears and I shall mention only a few of them.

One fear is called acrophobia, which is fear of great heights. This seems to be quite common—probably so much so that it is almost "normal." There is another fear called bathophobia, which means fear of great depths. If a really mean way it sounds it would be common enough among children!

There are other phobias with long and astonishing names and even stranger meanings. At the risk of making this sound like a list, here are a few: apiphobia—fear of bees; automyophobia—fear of being dirty; bibliophobia—dislike of books; chierophobia—fear of gaiety, and necrophobia, or fear of death. Obviously, the last is a fear which nearly everyone has. It is a true phobia only when a person thinks about death almost constantly.

MAY DOMINATE LIVES

Real phobias make the victims miserable and can completely dominate their lives and point of view. Even when the nature of fear seems humorous to the outsider, it is a constant source of annoyance to the person involved and causes untold mental distress.

Should anything be done about these abnormal fears? The answer is yes, if possible. But being afraid of something is abnormal only when it is excessive and there is no good reason for that fear.

Lovelace Clinic Headed For Fame

By ROBERT C. RUARK

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—Skip- ped over here to sit up with a sick friend. And bumped into the Lovelace Foundation for medical education and research, which seems to be to present the best argument against socialized medicine I have yet encountered. The Lovelace Clinic does not offer free hair pieces or gratis teeth, but it does spend a lot of time diagnosing people for odd ailments, and in research in the most advanced techniques or curing such things as cancer, heart diseases and lung troubles. From a standpoint of patients, it collects modestly, according to the individual ability to pay.

Its physicians are some 30 men who are content to receive a slight income for the privilege of practicing medicine full time with the best modern equipment. Most of the men could demand five times their income outside.

Patterned After Mayo

It is a purely private foundation, in that the government gives it no grant, and its income derives from personal gifts and from whatever the patients may pay. It is patterned on the Mayo Clinic and may, I believe, soon be equally famous—if only for its advancement on heart, cancer and lung.

Its over-all investment so far is just a million-and-a-half. It works closely with a brand-new hospital, which opened formally yesterday.

This hospital is the Bataan Memorial hospital, built on grounds donated by Dr. William Lovelace. It is as entirely functional and modern as any building in the land, and it was constructed at a cost of $14,000 a room.

Funds for the project were collected privately by the Methodists. Just across from it sits the fine new Veterans' Hospital, which was paid for with government funds. The cost was $34,000 a room. That argues a difference of $20,000 a room between private spending and government spending. I think the whole story of socialized medicine might rest on that one statistic.

One of the co-founders of the Lovelace Foundation is W. Randolph Lovelace II, nephew and associate of the man who originated it. Randy Lovelace is a surgeon with long experience at the Mayo Clinic, and one of the few non-fliers who ever earned the distinguished flying cross. He got this in 1943 for jumping in a parachute from 40,000 feet up in the stratosphere, and nearly freezing off a hand in the process. The guinea-pig job was part of an investigation of the upper air where there literally is no air.

Happy Genius

Something of Dr. Lovelace's selfless offer of his life for scientific experimentation is manifested in the whole operation of this vast acreage in medical experiment and treatment.

The scientists here work closely with the atomic people at nearby Los Alamos; and much of their experimentation is in connection with the effect of high air speeds on people.

The whole point of my story is that I never saw such a flock of brilliance so happy at work, so proud to be at work, and so scornful of mass production at the people's expense. They are no fee grabbers, no hacks willing to slog along making reports to conform with governmental red tape and tables of organization; they are not entirely popular with the general practitioners of Albuquerque, for the simple reason that collective facilities can offer so much more swiftly and competently in diagnosis of disease than can individual specialists on the outside. As a team, they also cost the patient much less.

But it is not a saving at government investigation. It is a saving effected by the power of capital. I might point out as a clincher that the chairman of the board of trustees is Floyd Odlum of the Atlas Corp., the United Fruit Co., and Consolidated Aircraft Corp. that seems to take it out of the bureaucracy.

located 1/2 miles west of M-35 on Old State Road. Our ranch will be Open To Visitors Sunday, May 4, 1 p. m. to 8:30 p. m.

Our remodeling project is not completed. Much remains to be done, especially on the outside, but we are impatient to publicly proclaim our confidence in the future of chinchilla fur.

Shown here is a portion of the interior of our new unit, designed to house 100 chinchillas. One of the fascinating features of the chinchilla business is the low capital investment required to build and maintain a large ranch.

Here is an artist's sketch of proposed additional expansion. Each unit, 16x36 foot, connected at the rear by an 8 foot service corridor, can be added singly as circumstances require, and with a minimum of cost.

We made our initial investment in chinchilla six years ago and since then have been acquiring the experience and knowledge of breeding which has produced prize winning chinchillas and a foundation herd which we believe will produce quality fur pelts.

Fire Hazard Extreme; Air Patrols Starting

Forest fire hazard extremely high, dry and windy weather forecast for the weekend—this was today's outlook for one of the most dangerous fire periods in many years.

It brought a warning and plea today from John Chriske, conservation supervisor of the Escanaba district, who pointed out that the number of fires so far this year is already ahead of the total for all of 1951.

In the Escanaba district, comprising Delta, Marquette and the west half of Alger counties, there were 35 fires that burned 244 acres in 1951; to May 1 this year there have been 45 fires that blackened 203 acres.

Air Patrol Operating

There are about 60 men in the district, personnel of the conservation department, now "ready to go at a moment's notice" if fire breaks out, Chriske said.

Airplane patrols have been established to supplement other forms of forest fire detection in the district.

The plane piloted by John Rossi of Marquette, and carrying an observer, is on duty daily from 10 a. m. to 7 p. m. The air patrol was started about 10 days ago when the fire hazard became extreme.

Use of the plane has assisted ground forces in quickly locating a fire, surrounding it, and bringing it under control, Chriske reported.

No Burning Permits

As one of the precautionary measures in the district, the railroad has established speeder patrols that follow every train passing through the fire danger area.

No burning permits are being issued and all personnel of the department stands ready to answer fire calls. The standby crews include all of the best keymen in the district and the experienced equipment operators.

Persons who go into the woods over the weekend are asked to be careful with fire—or the woods may not be there to enjoy when they return again.

Spruce Good Seed Producer

White spruce, one of the most valuable and widely planted Lake States conifers, normally produces heavy crops of seed every two to six years and lighter crops in most intervening years. Little is known, however, as to the total amount of seed produced by trees of this species in good years. Therefore, data collected on the Kawishiwi Experimental Forest near Ely, Minnesota, should be of interest since it shows how much seed an individual spruce can produce in a heavy crop year.

Following the seed crop of 1948, a careful count was made of all the cones produced by an isolated, open-grown white spruce 15 inches in d.b.h. and about 75 years old. Squirrels began to cut off the cones on August 25, and on September 2 a sample of 20 such cones (dropped but not otherwise disturbed) was taken at random. These were opened slowly by artificial heat and the seed obtained was stored at ordinary temperatures until November 6. At that time it was placed—wings and all without cleaning—on moist filter paper in petri dishes and pre-chilled for about two months at 41°F. Following this treatment, the seed was germinated at 70°-80°F. for a period of 19 days. All seeds remaining ungerminated at the end of the germination period were then cut open to determine the number of sound ungerminated seeds.

Of the 1,306 seeds contained in the 20 cones, 414 germinated and 43 others were still germinable at the end of the test. The average production per cone was, therefore, 22.8 viable seeds.

Cone fall continued throughout the fall of 1948 and during the following winter, summer, and fall. The total production of 1948 cones was found to be 11,874 cones, of which all but about 650 had fallen by June 30, 1949. Applying the average yield per cone to the total cone production gives a total yield from this one tree of more than 271,000 viable seeds in 1948, the equivalent of about one pound of commercial clean seed.

This tree bore a heavy crop of cones in 1944, lighter crops in 1946 and 1947, a medium crop in 1950, but no cones in 1945 or in 1949. Trees of comparable age and size would, of course, produce fewer cones under stand conditions, but it is apparent that mature white spruce trees in northern Minnesota can produce a large number of viable seeds in good crop years.

Forest Cutting Auctions Planned

LANSING—Cutting rights to mainly 13,250 cords of pulpwood and 232,000 board feet of sawlogs in three Upper Peninsula state forests will be auctioned on May 8, 9 and 12, the conservation department announces.

Public sale schedule for the Munuscong forest offering is May 8 at 9 a. m., Chippewa county courthouse, Sault Ste. Marie; for the Baraga forest date is May 9 at 10 a. m., Baraga county courthouse, L'Anse. Sealed bids, to log in the Escanaba River forest, will be opened May 12 at 10 a. m. at conservation headquarters, Gwinn.

Results of the first five years' cutting on the 40-acre second-growth wood lot at the Upper Peninsula Experimental Forest at Dukes, Michigan, show that substantial hourly returns can be realized annually under proper management.

This tract of second-growth hardwoods (predominantly sugar maple), logged over 35 to 40 years ago, was divided into five compartments of eight acres each. An improvement cutting was made over the area, each compartment being cut once during the past five years. Removed were many of the old logging remnants and some of the younger trees of poor form and quality plus a small volume of mature balsam fir and spruce.

An average of 343 board feet of sawlogs, 1.42 cords chemical bolts, 1.16 cords chemical wood, and 1.00 cords of pulpwood were cut per acre over the 5-year period. Total and hourly returns were as follows:

Year	Net return 1 worked	Time worked	Returns per man-hour
	Dollars	Hours	Dollars
1946	254.33	208	1.22
1947	249.16	227	1.10
1948	296.87	220	1.35
1949	337.48	281	1.20
1950	382.32	251	1.52
Total for 5 years	1,520.16	1,187
Average per year	304.03	237.4	1.28

1—Includes stumpage value.

The 40 acres have produced a net return of $1,520.16 over the 5-year period for an average hourly wage to the farmer-operator of $1.28. Stumpage estimated at not more than $30.00 per year is included in the return. Interest on the investment in land and taxes of about $6.00 a year have not been considered. Due to economic changes, the $1.22 hourly return in 1946 is about equal in purchasing power to the $1.52 return in 1950.

Each acre of timber provided approximately six hours of labor annually. On this basis, approximately 350 acres of second-growth timber of this type would annually provide one man-year of labor at a return of $9.12 per acre or almost $3,200.00 annually (using 1950 product values).

The wildlife population on an area varies with the amount of food, cover and water available.

Pulpwood Forestry Employs 35,000 In Three Lake States

Making the Lake States self-sufficient in pulpwood is essentially a matter of intensive forestry, according to the 28th annual report of the Lake States Forest Experiment Station.

The Lake States Station, located at St. Paul, is a regional branch of the Forest Service, U. S. Department of Agriculture, and is maintained in cooperation with the University of Minnesota. It carries on research for the benefit of public forest services, wood-using industries, and timberland owners in Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota.

Although the report of activities and findings in 1951 covers fire protection, sawlog forests, farm forests, and wildlife management, it concentrates largely on problems faced by the pulpwood industry which forms the economic backbone of many rural areas and sizable towns in the three Lake States.

35,000 Persons Employed

Pulp and paper manufacture is big business in this region, where 46 large pulpwood mills and 100 paper and pulpwood mills employ 35,000 mill and office workers, have an annual payroll in excess of 112 million dollars, and turn out products valued at 600 million dollars.

These mills consume 2.6 million cords of wood a year, importing a large part of it from Canada and western states. Imported wood, however, is high cost wood. Moreover, some of the exporting provinces and states are disposed to restrict future exports. The industry, confronted with the problem of permanent supplies, has in recent years acquired extensive holdings of forest land, employed many additional foresters, and supported timber surveys and forest research. It needs to know the local situation—the extent and condition of pulpwood forests, what areas can be planted, the annual growth on existing forests, and the current drain from fire, insects, disease, windfall, and cutting.

This information station foresters are trying to obtain, and the current annual report sets forth some of the answers learned to date.

The work of the station is divided into two phases, forest economics and forest management. In the forest economics field it is centered on a forest survey to collect data on the area, ownership, condition, and production of forest land. By the end of 1951 field inventory work in this survey had been completed on 13.2 million acres in Minnesota, 3.8 million acres in Wisconsin, and 9.9 million acres in Michigan. For the regions as a whole the job is 48 per cent done, and at the current rate of progress it will take about 6 years to finish it.

Research Program

In the field of forest management, station foresters are carrying on research projects dealing with regeneration, cultural treatment of growing stands, measurement of growth, and prediction of future yields. In getting reproduction it is not enough, according to the report, to depend on nature. Sometimes she needs assistance from man. Jack pine for example, often does not regenerate well after cutting, but tests show that ground scarification with a disk plow helps to produce well-stocked stands. Sometimes, however, in providing for the continuance of forest cover, nature does too good a job. As a result some stands are too thick for good growth. Others may be mixed with or overtopped by undesirable species. The station has been carrying on thinning studies since 1929 and in recent years has experimented with chemicals to kill brush and undesirable trees.

A new source of pulpwood is developing in the Lake States, says the report, in the form of thinnings

City Manager Submits Budget For Fiscal Year

A budget which estimates expenditures for 1952-53 at $175,891.00 of which $47,000.00 is to be raised by taxation, was submitted to the City Commission this week by City Manager H. J. Henrikson.

Public hearing on the budget will be held on the evening of Monday, May 12, at 7:30 in the council chambers.

In a foreword the city manager points out that his estimate of general expenditures for the current fiscal year reflect steadily increased costs of labor and material in that there is an increased budget in every department.

The City Manager estimates that total expenditures will run $24,875.00 greater than last year while the increase in tax levy is only $1,288.88. Using $3,357,150 total assessed valuation as set by the Board of Review and approved by the County Equalization board the $47,000 levy will result in a tax rate of $14.00 per $1,000 of assessed valuation.

While there is an increase in the estimated expenditures in every fund in only two are there levies increases. There are also levies decreases in two funds.

A comparison of the proposed budget with the previous year's budget follow:

Inland Goes On Curtailed Basis

With the demand for metallurgical stone ended by the current steel strike, a restricted schedule of operations was to be placed in effect today at the plant and quarry of the Inland Lime and Stone Company, it is reported by A. J. Cayia, president.

After storage docks were filled today at the plant, approximately 200 men were to be laid off on a seniority basis, he said. This is about half of the firm's operating crew during the shipping season.

Reduced operations on stone for other purposes, including stone for cement plants, lime burning plants and construction work, will be continued as long as possible while the steel plants are down, Cayia said.

The men laid off will be recalled to work immediately when the strike ends, he stated.

Our heartfelt thanks are extended to all who aided by acts of kindness and sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved mother, Mrs. A. E. Caswell, who passed away on May 1st, 1952. We are especially grateful to the pallbearers, to the soloist, to those who sent flowers, to those who donated the use of their cars and the drivers and for all other acts of kindness. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.

THE FAMILY OF MRS. ALICE HARP 5538-123-11f

We wish to express our sincere gratitude to our friends and neighbors for their many acts of kindness in our late bereavement. The death of our beloved brother, William Bezek, was a great loss to the pallbearers, to the soloist, to those who sent flowers, to those who donated the use of their cars and the drivers and for all other acts of kindness. Your kindness will always be held in grateful remembrance.
Signed:

With Ray Crandall

Bowling triplicates are rare indeed. But a keg quadruplet (if it could be called such) is practically unheard of. Yet one popped up in the City Association bowling tournament here the other night. Lawrence Belangie fashioned the unique series by bowling three games of 117 each. And to that he added his handicap of exactly 117 pins.

Escanaba dartsballers paid tribute to George LaCrosse, president of their Association, at the annual banquet held at the Eagles club this week. "Best president we ever had," was the reaction following the banquet at which league and tourney trophies were awarded by LaCrosse. When election of officers came up the first nomination for president for next season was LaCrosse. And then nominations were closed.

As a service for softball players and managers we're consolidating all notices of meetings and practice sessions under one softball heading as of today. That replaces the system used in the past whereby notices were scattered throughout the sports section in little briefs. If you managers have practice sessions coming up and want them listed, just give us a call on the phone and we'll include them in the list.

Another baseball school is slated for the Upper Peninsula this summer. This one is a little different from the previously announced major league trout camps, however. The Detroit Times is sponsoring a school for youths between 15 and 19 years of age in Dickinson and Iron counties. The school will be conducted at Iron River during the weekend of July 19. Big league tryouts are slated for Escanaba, Iron Mountain and Negaunee this summer with the Cleveland Indians, New York Giants and the Boston Braves sponsoring.

Ranguette Roving Scout For Chicago White Sox

Escanaba's major league baseball scout William "Bill" Ranguette will continue to eye young playing prospects in an official capacity for the Chicago White Sox this summer.

Ranguette yesterday signed his fourth contract with the Chicago White Sox of the American League in the capacity of a roving scout. His territory covers the Upper Peninsula, Northern Wisconsin and parts of Canada.

Ranguette joins the vast force of major league "eyes" constantly watching every move of young players throughout the country. They are on the lookout for athletes with speed, good arms, strong legs and the desire to play baseball.

The never-ending search for new talent is carried on in the hinterlands by such roving scouts as Ranguette. "We want ball players from 17 years and up who are through school. I'll be on the move most of the time and will look over every prospect possible. If any youngster wants to, he is perfectly welcome to contact me at any time. The invitation extends to boys anywhere in the Upper Peninsula or adjoining territory," Ranguette said.

"The majors want those boys who can hit the ball. There's always room for a hitter in the big time. What the scouts watch for is hustle, spirit and confidence in a youngster. And we're interested in good, clean athletes who play the game all the way," he explained.

Chuck Drensen, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, played 19 years in organized baseball, 16 of them as a third baseman.

BILL RANGUETTE

claimed.

"There are a number of good prospects in the Upper Peninsula, as evidenced by the increased interest on the part of the major leagues in this area," Ranguette added.

Ranguette's fourth White Sox contract was signed by John D. Rigney, ace Chicago hurler in the late 1930s and director of the White Sox farm clubs. It was approved by Frank Lane, general manager of the club.

Lou Sleater, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns, is a flight instructor for a Baltimore aircraft firm during the off-season.

Cage Tourney Hits New High

LANSING — (AP) — Michigan's 1952 state high school basketball tournament set new records in attendance and gate receipts, a final audit by the State High School Athletic Association showed today.

Total attendance at district, regional and final tournaments was 370,806. This compared with 305,916 last year.

Net receipts, including radio broadcasting fees, totaled $243,435 compared to $168,145 last year.

Charles E. Forsythe, state high school athletic director, said increased attendance and the elimination of federal admission taxes mainly accounted for the increase.

The federal taxes amounted to $33,709 last year.

Competing schools already have received $44,208 of the net and entertaining schools received $58,542.

Other expenses listed included $19,086 for fees and expenses allowed officials, $10,082 for trophies, medals, administration and miscellaneous expenses, $2,497 for basketballs, $3,260 for timers and scorers and $1,470 for liability insurance.

The amount received by the Association after all expenses were paid totaled $104,288. This compared with $55,950 last year.

Forsythe said, however, that members of the representative council planned to meet soon and probably would return between $30,000 and $35,000 more to the competing schools in view of the financial success of the tourney.

Whisper Of Rain For Big Derby Saturday

LOUISVILLE, Ky. — (AP) — Pre-Derby excitement reached fever pitch today with 10 three-year-olds already enrolled in the $100,000 added mile and one-quarter Run for the Roses and six more expected before the entry box closes.

In addition to Blue Man, the group included the New York combine of Jack Amiel's Count Flame and Master Fiddle from the Myhelyn Stable; Bayard Sharp's Delaware-owned Hannibal; Sam Wilson Jr.'s Gushing Oil, hope of Texas; Sub Fleet of Charles T. Fisher's Dixiana Farm and four rank outsiders.

The lightly regarded entries numbered Happy Go Lucky, owned and trained by H. G. Bookman, a former optometrist; Freeman Keyes' Oke Screen of Chicago; Shag Tails from the barns of Milton Shagrin of Cleveland and W. C. Morris' Brown Rambler.

Eskymos Win Baseball Opener; Two-Hitter Tossed By Chriske

The Escanaba High School baseball team greeted the 1952 season and the Marquette Redmen here yesterday with a barrage of base knocks that produced a 15-2 opening day victory.

Coach Jim Rouman sent senior Jack Chriske to the hill and the smooth-chucking right hander twirled an impressive two-hitter at the Marquette batsmen.

Rarely opening up full speed, Chriske bent them and changed pace to keep the visitors off balance at the plate. He fanned 11 and issued five walks. Both hits were singles.

Big Fourth Inning

Marquette was in trouble from the first inning. The Eskymos picked up three runs in the initial frame, added three in the second and paraded seven across in the fourth. Single runs in the fifth and sixth innings completed Escanaba's scoring. Marquette registered twice in the sixth in which errors contributed.

The Eskymos had a field day at the plate, bashing out 13 hits off two Marquette pitchers. Kooke started for the Redmen but was shelved in the sixth when Anderson came in to finish out the final two innings.

Four Escanaba batters collected two hits apiece. Jojo Johnston, Joe Larmay, Francis Artley and Paul Gundersman each hit twice. Johnston and Larmay contributed doubles for the Eskymos, Larmay's coming in the fourth with the bases loaded. Chriske also clouted a two-bagger.

Uses 18 Players

The remaining Escanaba hits were scattered among five other players. Coach Rouman used 18 players in the game, everyone in uniform seeing action with the exception of Fred Boddy, southpaw pitcher.

Escanaba travels to Negaunee for its next start Monday afternoon. St. Joe will be host to the Eskymos here Thursday afternoon at 4.

BARK RIVER — Coach Stan Wiinikainen's Bark River-Harris Tigers will be seeking their second straight baseball win of the young season Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. when they entertain the Rapid River nine.

The Tigers broke into the win column in their first official start by trimming Escanaba St. Joe 8-6 this week. Rapid River lost a pair to Cooks last week.

The game will be a Central League affair, first of the season for Bark River.

Either Billy Vincent or George Cavadeas will pitch for Bark River with Dave Kwarciany or Ken Tousignant catching. Florian Bartoszek will be at first, Dick Douglas at second, Ken Heim at short, Jim Greenwood at third, Ron Vincent, John Peterick and Allan Schoen in the outfield.

Louisville Takes Association Lead

(By The Associated Press) Louisville's red-hot rookies have pushed the Colonels into a full one game lead atop the American Association standings. The Colonels pegged their 10th win in 14 starts Thursday night with a 7-4 trimming of Kansas City.

Indianapolis handed Milwaukee its fifth setback in 14 games, 5-4, in 10 innings. Lloyd Gearhart singled home Bobby Wilson with the deciding run. Roy Dandridge bagged three of Minneapolis' 11 hits and batted in five runs as the Millers walloped Toledo 11-1. The defeat snapped Billy Connely's winning streak at three games.

MIZELL WHIFFED

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—Manager Eddie Stanky of the Cardinals is expecting a lot from southpaw rookie Wilmer (Vinegar) Bend Mizell. Last season with Houston in the Texas League, Mizell struck out 18 batters in one game, seventeen in another and 15 in still another. Three times he whiffed 13 men. He averaged better than 10 strikeouts a game.

The Bill Bougie-Carl Sawyer blast of 1337, new high for the doubles, was one of three changes in that division. Moyle and Tony Milkovich hit 1218 for fourth and Francis Greniere and J. Schiska rolled 1217 for fifth.

Bears To Practice Sunday Afternoon

The Escanaba Bears will hold a practice session Sunday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the cemetery diamond, it was announced today by Manager Jack Beck.

Beck stated that arrangements have been made for players of last season's team to fill in for the first three Tri County league games until high school athletes are eligible to compete.

Wertz Gets Two Homers As Tigers Tip Yankees

NEW YORK — (AP) — A brilliant relief pitching performance by veteran Dizzy Trout led the Detroit Tigers out of a deep hole and the American league basement once more.

After a near 5-4 decision over the New York Yankees last night, the Tigers were counting on knocking off the world champs again today with the one-two pitching punch that recently subdued Cleveland.

The first half of that punch, of course, is ex-soldier ace Art Houtteman, credited with last night's win in his first appearance since his one-hitter against the Indians at Detroit last Saturday.

The second is southpaw Ted Gray, who handed Cleveland another defeat on Sunday and was named for today's game against the world champions.

Two Homers

Houtteman needed the strong support of Trout and Vic Wertz in winning his second game of the season. Dizzy's relief pitching subdued a ninth-inning New York threat while Vic socked two home runs, his fourth and fifth of the season, to account for four of the Tiger runs.

Art held the Yanks well in check for eight innings, but lost his touch and gave up singles to the first three batters in the ninth. Trout took over with one run in, the tying run on third, the winning run on first and none out. And he proceeded to retire three Yankees in order to win for Houtteman.

The victory pulled the Tigers back into seventh place, ahead of the Philadelphia Athletics who lost to Chicago.

In the thrill-packed ninth, Eddy Brown, Bob Serv and pinch hitter Johnny Mize singled in quick succession, with Brown coming home to make the score 5-4.

Trout Ducks Fire

Tiger Manager Red Rolfe yanked Houtteman and brought in Trout. Diz got Phil Rizzuto to ground to Johnny Lipon at short-stop, and Lipon threw out Cerv at the plate. Johnny Hopp struck out, and Mickey Mantel ended the game by grounding out to Don Kolloway.

Wertz' two homers came in the fourth and fifth innings, and each time he drove Pat Mullin in ahead of him. In the fourth, Pat had worked New York starter Johnny Sain for a pass when Vic came up and drove the ball into the third deck of the right field stands.

The Tigers scored again in that frame on singles by Cliff Mape and Lipon and an error by Brown on Kolloway's grounder.

In the next inning, Mullin singled with two out and Wertz brought him home again, this time with a smash into the bleachers of right-center. That finished the Detroit scoring, and it was just enough.

The Yankees' only earned run off Houtteman in the first eight innings came in the second, when Yogi Berra walked, moved to second on Gene Woodling's scratch single and to third on a sacrifice, and came home on a long fly by Brown.

In the eighth, Joe Collins batted for Sain and walked. He went down to second on an infield out. Then two Tiger errors let in a pair of New York runs. Hopp grounded to Kolloway, who let the ball get past him. Collins scored and Hopp went all the way to third when Wertz threw wild, and Johnny then scored on a Berra single.

Kell Denies Dissention On Tiger Baseball Team

NEW YORK — (P) — George Kell, star Detroit third baseman, says the Tigers are 100 per cent behind Manager Red Rolfe and denies knowledge of any dissention at any time this or any other season.

"The story that the club was in revolt against Rolfe was utterly ridiculous," Kell said. "There was absolutely no basis for it."

"It so happens that Rolfe treated the players better this spring and is a better manager now than at any time since he took charge. He certainly is getting more respect and is better liked this year than ever before. And I'm not saying it because of the dissention rumor, either. The boys have felt that way right from spring training."

Kell, who said he supposed the rumors started because of the eight straight losses the Tigers suffered at the start of the season blamed Detroit's losing streak on poor hitting and hard luck.

"We've been getting good pitching," he said, "but the boys have not been backing up Art Houtteman, Ted Gray, Virgil Trucks and Hal Newhouse at the plate. I myself have not been hitting as well as I should."

"Through it all, Rolfe has been wonderful. I remember when defeats like those we've suffered would make him morose and untalkative. In the contrary, those steady defeats and the tough luck has made him more affable. After every loss, he'd come into the clubhouse and slap us on the back."

"We lost today, and we may lose again tomorrow," he said, "but we can't lose 'em all. We've got to start winning some time. We're a much better club than we've shown. The luck is bound to change."

Sport Shorties

Bob Spears, Yale's 1951 football captain, is the number one man in the spotlight and discus events for the Ell track squad.

Education Group To Draw Bead On Kentucky

CHICAGO — (AP) — The American Council on Education will hold a full-dress meeting today with its president, Arthur Adams, predicting that the University of Kentucky's athletic policy may be aired.

Adams referred to critical comment leveled at the university Tuesday in New York by Judge Saul S. Streit. In suspending sentences of three former Kentucky basketball stars for shaving points, Judge Streit accused the school of making football and basketball "commercialized enterprises."

The A. C. E. meeting is the group's first as a full body since last February when a special committee of college presidents, headed by John A. Hannah of Michigan State, mapped a strict sports reform program.

Among 10 major ACE recommendations were the abolishment of athletic scholarships, standard admission requirements for all students, eligibility of athletes based on normal progress toward a degree, elimination of out-of-season practices and post-season games.

The A.C.E. has no authority to enforce and is dependent upon accrediting agencies, the national collegiate athletic association, athletic conferences and the individual schools. The North Central, one of six accrediting groups, drew up a program last month proposing expulsion of institutions violating the A.C.E.'s recommendations.

The NCAA has restricted practices but has not banned them. It also has committees investigating effects of post season games on recruiting seasons.

The Big Ten and Pacific Coast conferences, two powerful members of the NCAA, have decided to wait for the post-season investigation to be completed early in 1953 before acting on continuation of the Rose Bowl football contract which expires with the 1954 New Year's Day game.

The A.C.E.'s athletic program will be key-noted today by Hannah, speaking on the "basic objectives of sound athletic policy."

Meantime the national collegiate athletic bureau and the olympic committee already are hatching probes involving Kentucky.

Hugh Willett, president of the NCAA, said he had asked the group's membership committee to look into Kentucky's athletic practices. The olympic committee is checking up on 1948 Olympic funds.

Judge Streit, in his Tuesday statement said the players received bonuses ranging from $50 to $100 after well-played games and that Adolph Rupp, Kentucky basketball coach, testified to paying some of the athletes out of money raised by the Wildcat team for the 1948 Olympics.

Owen Van Camp, treasurer of the U. S. Olympic committee, said if Olympic money was given Kentucky athletes "it is definitely in violation of Olympic rules."

The Amateur Athletic Union stepped into the picture also yesterday when it set up a five-man committee to probe the amateur status of the 1952 Olympic basketball team, made up of players from the University of Kansas and the AAU Peoria Caterpillars.

Old Hurlers Improve With Age; Cubs Are Near First

By JACK HAND

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Dizzy Trout, Joe Dobson and Sid Hudson, like old wine, seem to improve with age. The old gaffers are teaching the new dogs some old tricks.

Trout turned in a spectacular relief performance last night at Yankee Stadium to stifle a New York Yankees rally. Rescuing Art Houtteman in the ninth with men on first and third and nobody out, the 36-year-old Trout preserved a 5-4 Detroit victory.

Dobson, well past his 35th birthday, silenced the Philadelphia A's without a hit for 7½ innings while pitching the Chicago White Sox to a 3-0 triumph.

Hudson, Washington's 34-year-old veteran, edged Cleveland's Bob Lemon, 2-1, in an exciting 13-inning battle at Griffith Stadium.

The kids had their fun, too. Those rollicking St. Louis Browns, after breaking even with the world champs in New York, bowled over the Boston Red Sox rookies, 6-1. Thus did Rogers Hornsby's upstarts, cellar tenants in '51, move within one game of the first place Red Sox.

The Chicago Cubs, somewhat more mature than the Browns, continued to play like the spring sensations of the National as they bumped Brooklyn, 7-2. It took a trick of mathematics to keep the Cubs out of first place. Chicago, last in 1951, actually had a half game edge in the won-and-lost standings but Brooklyn held a 13-point percentage edge, .727 to .714. Jim Hearn found the revamped Pittsburgh Pirates just as accommodating as his "cousins" of old as he pitched the New York Giants to a 13-5 romp. That made his lifetime count 14-2 over the Bucs.

Roberts Wins
Robin Roberts, the Phillies' youthful ace, racked up win No. 3 with home run help from Nippy Jones and Connie Ryan as he downed St. Louis, 6-3, with an eight-hitter.

Cincinnati's Herm Wehmeier needed relief help from Frank Smith to put down a ninth-inning Boston uprising, saving a 7-6 edge for the Reds.

Getting back to Yankee Stadium where 21,127 turned out for the first night game of the season, Houtteman, a one-hit winner in his last out, suddenly lost his stuff in the ninth when three straight singles narrowed the gap to 5-4 with nobody out.

Trout strode in with Bob Cerv on third and pinch runner Artie Wilson on first. Down went the Yanks, one-two-three. When Phil Rizzuto grounded to shortstop Johnny Lipon, Cerv was cut down at the plate. Johnny Hopp fanned and Mickey Mantle ended the game by grounding to first.

Near No-Hitter
Vic Wertz was the big gun in the Tiger attack. Despite his sickly 191 he bashed successive two-run homers off Johnny Sain in the fourth and fifth innings to set up the Tiger triumph.

Dobson had a no-hitter going with one out in the eighth. Then rookie Skeeter Kell beat out a slow roller that shortstop Chico Carrasquel bobbled momentarily. The official scorer ruled it a hit on the theory that Kell would have beaten the throw to first.

Gil Coan's double and Frank Campos' single in the 13th broke up the duel between Hudson and Lemon at Griffith Stadium. Coan opened the 13th with his double. After Irv Noren popped out, Rookie Campos slashed his single to center.

Duane Pillette threw a five-hitter against the Red Sox and contributed a two-run double in the fifth. Big Hank Sauer of the Cubs put the skids under Dodger Ralph Branca with a three-run double in the first inning.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK — (AP)—The young sports writer had been ordered by his editor to find out if there existed any real difference between the hit-and-run play and the run-and-hit play in baseball, and, if so, just wherein the difference lay. There was only one man to ask, of course, and he approached Manager Casey Stengel of the Yankees with the sublime confidence of youth.

"Of course there's a difference—all the difference in the world," Casey said decisively, "and I'll be happy to tell you what it is. You know, I'm not even supposed to be out here in front of the dug-out while they (the St. Louis Browns) are practicin'. Mustn't talk to the patrons, either, but that there's a good rule. Some guy gives you a big wave and he either turns out to be a gambler or some relative lookin' for a touch."

"Now, this here hit and run. You got the hit and run on, the batter's got a choice where he wants to hit—wherever he sees an opening to push the ball through. I don't mind tellin' you I've had a pair could work it good. Rizzuto and Coleman. That feller out there (Marty Marion) can do it, too. Learned it since he came to the big leagues."

"Watch that Hornsby look at my boys out of the corner of his eyes when they yell at his boy Kryhoski. He knows what's goin' on. They were all together in the navy. That's what they're yellin' at him about. That catcher of his (Clint Courtney) is all right. I liked him, but I let Hornsby have him. He'll do all right if he doesn't get killed. He'll fight you. Of course, he doesn't always win. He ain't the champion, but he'll fight you."

"Look at that Satch Paige workin' out at second. I hear Roger's goin' to play him there next year. Same height as Marion, seven feet, and nobody'll be able to knock a ball over their infield."

"The run and hit, now, that's a lot different. It mostly depends on the count—say if the batter's got three balls on him. He's got to protect the runner. In that case I'll tell him where to hit it. There's others might do it different, but I tell him where to hit. Some players go all their lives and can't do either one. I ain't givin' away any secrets, either."

"Now you watch these Browns. They don't know yet they can be licked. They're goin' to try to do a lot of buntin' on us. That's what I hear. I'd better tip off my young men to watch for it."

"I'm beginning to wonder about this here league. All I hear is about how these pitchers think they're havin' a bad day if they give up more than one hit. You know, it might be that all these pitchers are so great. Maybe it's just that this ain't a hit-in' league any more. Think that's possible?"

"This hit and run, it's a very, very useful play if you've got men can do it. So's the run and hit, but it's different, and a lot of people never learn the difference like I've been tellin' you. One of 'em you're tryin' to keep out of that double play, the other it's somethin' else. See what I mean?"

The young sports writer, who had listened enthralled, looked at Casey a long moment and then shook his head in the affirmative. Casey, who likes to be helpful to the press, gave the youngsters one of his justly famous winks, as though they alone shared a deep baseball secret, and eased himself down the dugout steps.

Trips Behind Iron Curtain Banned For U. S. Citizens

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The State Department has banned all travel to iron curtain countries by American citizens unless they have specific permission.

The department said that because of the "risks of travel" in Soviet bloc countries all new passports will be stamped:

"This passport is not valid for travel to Albania, Bulgaria, China, Czechoslovakia, Hungary, Poland, Romania or the Union of Soviet Socialist Republics unless specifically indorsed under authority of the Department of State as being valid for such travel."

Officials said permission will be granted to travel in all these countries except Communist China, Czechoslovakia and Hungary for "legitimate reasons."

Travel to China, Hungary and Czechoslovakia has been flatly forbidden for some time.

Outstanding passports will be subject to the new restrictions and will be indorsed like the others when turned in by the holder or otherwise submitted to officials.

Invasion Of Formosa Wo'd Mean Disaster For Reds, Says Chase

By SPENCER MOOSA

TAIPEH, Formosa — (AP)—Maj. Gen. William C. Chase observing his first year as head of the U. S. Military Assistance Advisory Group to Formosa, predicted disaster for the Chinese Reds if they attempt to invade the Chinese Nationalist bastion.

"I feel if a large number of junks come, a large number will be sunk and there'll be a lot of dead Communists in the water," he said.

Chase activated the MAAG with his arrival here one year ago.

Accompanied by Chinese and American officers and newsmen, Chase watched Nationalist ground troops and anti-aircraft firing practice near the northwestern tip of Formosa.

New American guns were in use.
